

CFPC
Continuing Professional Development Program
Award Nominee

ONBOARD MEDICAL EMERGENCIES

December 14, 2016

COURSE DIRECTORS

Anna Carvalho, MD, FRCPC, DAvMed

Vincent Poirier, MDCM, FRCPC, DAvMed

ONLINE REGISTRATION
www.muhc-cme.mcgill.ca

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT :
info@OnboardME.com

THIS COURSE CONSISTS OF:

- Altitude physiology in the aviation environment
- Epidemiology of medical emergencies in flight
- Traveler's thrombosis
- Which passenger is "Fit to Fly"
- Medical equipment onboard aircraft:
Emergency Medical Kit (EMK)
- Safety on board
- Cabin crew—their roles and first aid training
- Management of common in flight emergencies
- Medicolegal implications of helping onboard
- Role play in simulator:
 - Aircraft evacuation
 - Smoke in cabin
 - CPR/ALS: where to do it ?
 - Emergency oxygen

WHO?

The Onboard Medical Emergencies course is for any health professional interested in the subject of aviation medicine and inflight emergencies. Participants come from a wide range of medical specialities and backgrounds (physicians, nurses, paramedics).

WHERE?

Air Canada's headquarters at Dorval-Trudeau Airport / Building 2 (Air Canada Training Center)

WHEN?

Wednesday, December 14, 2016

HOW MUCH?

Physicians: $520

Early registration (October 7): $435

Students, Residents & Nurses: $350

CREDITS

For this course, we have requested 8 Continuing Medical Education study credits from Continuing Professional Development (CPD), Faculty of Medicine, McGill University.